The Hon. Marshall P. Wilder, President of the United States Aglicultural Society, in a letter to the American editor, says:

"After an attentive examination of your 'Farmers and Flanters' Encyclopedia,' I take pleaure in recommending it as a sandard spitcultural work, abaunding in practical and ecientific information adapted to the comprehension of the unceientific information adapted to the comprehension of the unceientific enaders. A copy abould be in the hands of every farmer or person at all interested in rural affairs. In the publication of this work you have contribu'ed greatly to promote the diffed in among our countrymen of the best agricultural information, acranged in the most convenient form for ready reference.

The wife-slayer and his six wives.

The real history of this royal bru'e has been concealed from the observation of the popular eye, and his falls and cruelties excured on account of the character of his two daughters—Queen Elizabeth and 'Bloody Mary'—who were, subsequent to his reign, ruling queens of England. The literary brilliancy of this period has hidden for many years the true character of this royal bruck in colors which remance could not sande with a deeper dye. This volume is beautifully got up by the publishers, and on account of its routh lines as a higraphy, should be generally read and studied by every one who precends to a knowledge of English hierers.

published:
THE KNICKERBOCKER GALLERY;
A MISCELLANY OF LITERATURE AND ART.
In one splended octave volume, comprising original literary contributions by the most eminent American Authors, with 48 Pertraits on Steel, taken from original pictures.
A complimentary ribute to Lewis Gaylord Clark, esq., for over twenty years Editor of The Knickerbocker Maganice.
A new edition of the GALLERY is now ready.
No book has been published in America which commends liself none to every one who feels an interrest in the literature of our country. It is a pleasure to look upon the features of these who have delighted and charmed us and no person can open this volume without being greeted by the faces of some in whose writings they have been more or less interested. The volume contains portraits of Irvine Bryant Halleck, Longfellow, Hofmes, Mitchell, Whits, Morris, Courts, Bayant Taylor, Kimball, bheliton, and others.
EXTRACTS FROM NOTICES OF THE PRESS:

"The attactiveness of the work is greatly enhanced by the number and variety of portraits with which it is embellished, forming an extensive Gallery of American Authors."

It is unsurpassed by anything that has ever been issued from the American Press."

"The literary costents are highly creditable to the semilemen contributing; and as each article is accompanied by a steel-captaved disenses of the writer, it may be beyond question, pronounced the best Portrait Gailery of American Authors which has ever appeared." [Penn. Inquier: Philadelphia.

"A volume so unique in its concept in, and so expansive in its illustrations, deserves complete success."

"The most brilliant American book of the season."

HOLIDAY DIVERTISSEMENTS!

A new addition of that most beautiful and entirely original ENTERTAINMENT FOR CHILDREM.

A new addition of that most beautiful and entirely original ENTERTAINMENT FOR CHILDREM.

A History of her Life, in a series of six beautiful Figures, from new and exquisite oscingos, printed in oil colors, in the beat six of the art. With postical descriptions.

"Messas Crosby, Nichols & Co., Boston have published a series of beautiful des gns, printed in oil colors, which sive the instory of ther life, which the raquisite figures are designed to index to the color of the rife, which the raquisite figures are designed to injustrate. Little Fanny is presented in six off-real characters; ence she was not as a girl and end a happy hums, which looks very structive in the picture; then fortune frowed and she receive a wanderer and sold matches, till kind-hearted Farmer Waston'took her hums where she fed his checkens, and guthered the wild flowers from hill an imoor, till in her clearacter of flower-girl she is discovered by her rich uncle, who makes her his pet and a little lady; all of which may be tasterfully shown by floures as the story proceeds. The whole is one of the neatest and most delightful gifts for children that we leave the result."

M YSTERIES of the POST-OFFICE.

"A Mail-Bag is an epitome of human life."

TEN YEARS AMONG THE MAIL-BAGS;
Or., NOTES FROM THE DIARY OW A SPECIAL AGENT OF THE POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

By J. HOL BROOK SELECTION.

Beautifully illustrated with its seal Porterite by Ritchile, and 12 Wood & Engravings, from designs thirdly by Darley.

This work—undertaken with the sanction of the chief officers of the Post Office Department, by a g-sub-man who has long been and is still one of the Special Agents of that Department—is the first book of the kind ever issued exicultived to give the poblic as insight into the practical operations of the Post-Hiller Istabilishment and the almost certain means which skill and experience have farmished for the detection and putation and the invoice bility of privata correspondences.

Never has a volume been officed to the poblic under a more hearty and universal or minentation of that enlightened and powerful censor, the Fress. Erief averages from several of these distering notices are annexed:

"The book will prove one of the most entertaining of the season; and in livelines, interest and general crath to nature, will form a pleasant addition to our stock of popular light literature,"

"Ye are bound to concede to Mr. Hobrook's arrative of his Post-Office experiences the merit of being an exceedingly interesting and suggestive book."

"The cuttert and most entertaining book we have recently seen. Some of Mr. Hobrook's true, unvanish d residua best all that one finds in Responde's monant cities; and any one who read them will residue at once that romaine a fill lives and thive and of the sense of the sense of the samplest, to every person who can read a book or write a letter."

[Philadelphis Sulletin.

"A well-written and amoving work from which we shall make an extract or two for the benefit of the community."

[Philadelphis Sulletin.

"It shounds with sketches of nove and instructive matter."

'I have examined, with mach pleasure, the recont work of Prof Ingraham and am much pleasured both with the plan and the execution. The graphic and deeply interesting manner in which the events of the Bavior's ife and the second and which these events o curved are searched, or rather, platured before the reeder, almost transports one back for eighteen conturies, to the very time of the life of Chilst on as th. and to the very place hellowed by his sacred presence. The inflaence of such a back connot see otherwise, thus good, wherever it is read, adapted as it is to loves; with a most attractive charm, to young and old, the history of the life and mitseles, the sufficies and ceath of our aderable Redesemer.
